Winemaking

A blend of Dijon clones 76 and 95, hand-harvested in mid-March and gently whole-bunch pressed to tank. Free-run juice was settled overnight, then racked with a portion of light, fluffy lees to build texture and palate weight. The juice was barrelled down to 15% new French oak barriques and underwent a slow, wild fermentation, with regular barrel stirring to resuspend the lees. After 11 months' maturation in oak, the most outstanding barrels were selected and blended as this top cuvée.
