Winemaking

The Lume is a wine of three parts. Pinot Gris was harvested from our Tamar Valley and Coal River vineyards in March at perfect ripeness, gently pressed and fermented in stainless steel to retain freshness and varietal aromatics. A portion of the Pinot Gris was kept separate, fermented on skins and aged in Italian clayver to build texture and complexity. Pinot Noir was hand harvested from our Tamar Valley vineyard and given a short maceration on skins before being pressed and fermented in stainless steel. The Pinot Noir was then blended with the other components, adding a vibrant red fruit dimension to the exotic, textural Pinot Gris.
